UD HOSTS WORKSHOP FOR PROSPECTIVE LAW STUDENTS

DAYTON, Ohio, January 28, 1987--The University of Dayton School of Law will host a free workshop for prospective law students on Thursday, February 5, from 6 to 9 p.m. and again on Monday, February 9, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Anyone interested in law who has earned or is about to earn a bachelor's degree is welcome to attend.

The workshops, designed to introduce the study of law, will provide general information that applies to most accredited law schools in the United States. Participants in the workshops need not be candidates for admission to UD's School of Law.

Topics to be discussed include an introduction to methods of legal education, practical advice from current law students, and information on admission, financial aid, and placement. Tours of UD's School of Law will be provided, and participants in the February 9 workshop will have the opportunity to attend classes.

Reservations should be made for the February 5 workshop by Wednesday, February 4, and for the February 9 session by Friday, February 6, by calling the School of Law at 229-3555.

The Prospective Student Workshop is co-sponsored by the undergraduate chapter of Phi Alpha Delta, a legal fraternity at the University of Dayton.

For more information, call Richard T. Ferguson at 229-3555.
